HANDBILLS—CARDS—BLANKS—AND JOB PRINTING OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS EXECUTED IN THE NEATEST MANNER, AND ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 7.

Extract of a letter from Com. Chauncey to the Secretary of the Navy, dated on board the United States ship Superior, off Kingston, August 10, 1814.

"I have been duly honored with your letters of the 19th and 24th July.

"I do assure you, sir, that I have never been under any pledge to meet Gen. Brown at the head of the Lake; but on the contrary when we parted at Sackett's Harbour, I told him distinctly, that I should not visit the head of the Lake, unless the enemy's fleet did.

"I can ascribe the intimation of Gen. Brown, that he expected the co-operation of the fleet to no other motive, than a cautious attempt to provide an apology for the public, against any contingent disaster to which his army might be exposed.

"But, sir, if any one will take the trouble to examine the topography of the peninsula, (the scene of the General's operations) he will discover that this fleet could be of no more service to Gen. Brown, or his army, than it could to an army in Tennessee.

"General Brown has never been able to penetrate nearer to Lake Ontario than Queenstown, and the enemy is in possession of all the intermediate country; so that I could not even communicate with the army, but by a circuitous route of 70 or 80 miles.

"Admitting Gen. Brown could have invested Fort George, the only service he could have derived from the fleet, would be our preventing the supplies of the enemy from entering the Niagara river; for the water is so shallow that the large vessels could not approach within two miles of their works.

"Gen Brown had therefore two abundantly sufficient reasons for not expecting the co-operation of this fleet; it was not promised to him—and was chimerical in itself.

"My fixed determination has always been to seek a meeting with the enemy the moment the fleet was ready, and to deprive him of an apology for not meeting me, I have sent four guns on shore from the Superior, to reduce her armament in number to an equality with the Prince Regent's, yielding the advantage of their 68 pounders. The Mohawk mounts 2 guns less than the Princess Charlotte, and the Montreal and Niagara are equal to the General Pike and Madison. I have detached, on separate service, all the brigs; and am blockading his four ships, with our four ships, in the hope that this may induce him to come out."

LETTER

OF THE LATE SECRETARY OF WAR.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE BALTIMORE PATRIOT.

It may be due to myself and is certainly due to others, that the reasons under which I retired from the direction of the War Department, at a juncture so critical as the present, should be fully and promptly known to the public.—These reason will be found in the following brief exposition of facts.

On the evening of the 29th ultimo, the President called at my lodgings, and stated that a case of much delicacy had occurred; that a high degree of excitement had been raised among the militia of the district; that he was himself an object of their suspicions and menaces; that an officer of that corps had given him notice, that they would no longer obey any order coming through me as Secretary of War; and that in the urgency of the case, it might be prudent so far to yield to the impulse, as to permit some other person to exercise my functions in relation to the defence of the district.

To this statement and proposition, I answered substantially as follows—that I was aware of the excitement to which he alluded, that I knew its source and had marked its progress; that the present was not a moment to examine its more occult causes, objects and agents; that it ostensibly rested on charges known to himself to be false, that it was not for me to determine how far the supposed urgency of the case made it proper for him to yield to an impulse so vile and profligate—so injurious to truth and so destructive of order; but that for myself there was no choice; that I could never surrender a part of my legitimate authority, for the preservation of the rest—that I must exercise it wholly, or not at all; that I came into office, with objects exclusively public; and that to accommodate my principles or my conduct to the humors of a village mob, stimulated by faction and led by folly, was not the way to promote these, and that if his decision was taken in conformity to the suggestions he had made, I entreated him to accept my resignation. This he declined doing. It was an extent, he was pleased to say, to which he meant not to go; that he knew the excitement was limited, as well with regard to time as to place; that he was now, and had always been, fully sensible of the general zeal, diligence and talent, which I had put into the discharge of my duty, and that it would give him pleasure, were I to take time to consider his proposition. I renewed the assurance of my great personal respect, and my readiness to conform to his wishes on all proper occasions.—I remarked, that whatever zeal, diligence and talent I possessed, had been employed freely but firmly, and according to my best views of the public good, and that as long as they were left to be so exerted, they were at the service of my country—but that the moment they were made to bow to military usurpation or political faction, there should be an end of their public exercise. We now parted, with an understanding that I should leave Washington the following morning.

It has been since stated to me as a fact (to which I give the most reluctant belief) that on the morning of the 29th, and before my arrival in the city, a committee of the inhabitants of Georgetown, of whom Alexander C. Hanson, editor of the Federal Republican, was one, had waited on the President, by deputation, and had obtained from him a promise, that I should no longer direct the military defences of the District. On this fact, all commentary is unnecessary.

It but remains to exhibit and to answer, the several charges raised against me and which form the groundwork of that excitement, to which the President has deemed it prudent to sacrifice his authority, in declining to support mine. They are as follows, viz.

1st. That (from ill will to the District of Columbia, and a design to remove the seat of government,) I gave orders for the retreat of the army, in the affair of the 24th ult. under circumstances not making retreat necessary or proper.

This charge has not for its support the shadow of truth. The commanding general will do me the justice to say, that I gave him no such order, and that he was and is under the impression, that the retreat was made earlier than I believed it to be proper. To the President I appeal, whether I did not point out the disorder and retreat of a part of the first line, soon after the action began, and stigmatise it as base and infamous

2d. That, in despite of the remonstrances of Gen. Winder, and by the interposition of my authority, I had prevented him from defending the Capital

This charge contains in it a total perversion of the truth. When the head of the retiring column reached the Capital, it was halted for a moment. Gen. Winder here took occasion to state to Mr. Monroe and myself, that he was not in condition to maintain another conflict, and that his force was broken down by fatigue and dispersion. Under this representation, we united in opinion, that he should proceed to occupy the heights of Georgetown.

3d. That I had withdrawn the covering party from the rear of fort Washington, and had ordered captain Dyson to blow up the fort without firing a gun.

This charge is utterly devoid of truth. The covering party was withdrawn by an order from Gen. Winder, and capt. Dyson's official report shews, that the orders under which he acted, were derived from the same source, though, no doubt, mistaken or misrepresented.

4th. That by my orders, the navy yard had been burned. This like its predecessors, is a positive falsehood.

Perceiving that no order was taken for apprising Commodore Tingey of the retreat of the army, I sent Major Bell to communicate the fact and to say, that the Navy Yard could no longer be covered. The commodore was of course left to follow the suggestions of his own mind, or to obey the orders, if orders had been given, of the Navy Department.

5th. And lastly; That means had not been taken to collect a force sufficient for the occasion.

As the subject of this charge may very soon become one of congressional enquiry, I shall at present make but a few remarks.

1st. That no means within reach of the War Department had been omitted or withheld—that a separate military district, embracing the seat of government, had been created; that an officer of high rank and character had been placed in charge of it; that to him was given full authority to call for supplies and for a militia force of fifteen thousand men; that to this force was added the 26th regt. of the line, a battalion of the 38th, detachments of the 12th, of the artillery, and of the dragoons, the marine corps, and the crews of the flotilla, under the special command of commodore Barney—making a total of 16,300 men.

Gen. Winder's official report of the engagement of the 24th ult. shews, how much of this force had been assembled, and the causes why a greater portion of it had not been got together. These will be found to have been altogether extraneous from the government, and entirely beyond its control: and

2d. That from what is now known of the enemy's force; of the loss he sustained in the enterprise; of the marks of panic under which he retreated, &c. &c. it is obvious, that if all the troops assembled at Bladensburgh, had been faithful to themselves and to their country, the enemy would have been beaten, and the Capital saved.

JOHN ARMSTRONG.

Baltimore, 3d. September, 1814.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.

Gentlemen, passengers in the Saratoga, inform, that Mr. GALLATIN had several interviews with the Emperor ALEXANDER, while in London; and it was reported that the Emperor expressly declined interfering in the question between us & G. Britain. They say that any decisive result of the negotiation was not expected until the event of the present campaign was known.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.

IMPORTANT.

By the steamboat Fulton, we received the following important articles:

Office of the Republican, Plattsburgh, Sept. 1—10 o'clock, A. M.

The enemy's forces have advanced into our country—they last night encamped near Champlain. Their force is represented at 5000—18 or 20 pieces of artillery—of this force 400 are said to be Indians, and 1 or 200 dragoons. It is believed they design to attack this place.—Major APLING, with his corps, are in Chazy.

Extract of a letter to the Editors.

"Burlington, Vt. Sept. 6.

"The last week has been nothing but a scene of anxiety and confusion in this quarter, owing to the numerous reports in circulation that the British were marching towards Plattsburgh. The fact being ascertained, that they are advancing, I sit down to give you a hasty sketch of the particulars, which came within my knowledge.

"Gen. IZARD, (as reported) by an order from the secretary of war, has been directed, and actually marched with the principal part of his force, to the west, to join gen. BROWN's army, and has left only gen. M'COMB's brigade, with a few militia at Plattsburgh. The whole force on our side will not exceed 2000 men, now at that place; that of the enemy, from the best accounts I can obtain, amounts to 6000, actually on this side of the line, under the command of maj. gen. BRISBANE, and a very large number, say 9000, at Odletown, headed by Sir GEO. PREVOST. An attack on Plattsburgh is momentarily expected. The people of that village are in great consternation, & are moving away their families and effects.

"Our fleet have left their moorings near the line, and have arrived off Plattsburgh. They have been reinforced by the new brig lately built at Vergennes. Should they be attacked by the enemy, it is believed they will give a good account of themselves to their country.

"By the last advices from the North, I learn that there has been an arrival at Quebec from England in 26 days, which states, that the negociations for a peace, (between the American and British commissioners) are wholly broken off. It is impossible for me to obtain any papers of an official nature, stating these facts, to send you—but the respectable source from which I have received the information, induces me to think the intelligence correct."

ADAMS FRIGATE BLOWN UP.

By the Eastern Mail Stage arrived last evening at 11 o'clock.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER.

"Newburyport, Sept. 7, 6 P. M.

"Our Navy has lost one of its brightest ornaments. The gallant capt. MORRIS is said to be no more. The enemy with an overwhelming force approached Hampden on Saturday night. Capt. M finding that it would be useless to make resistance, gave orders for his crew to leave the ship, and retreat to the shore, and as soon as every person was on shore but himself, he set fire to the train which led to the magazine, and then jumped overboard; and when last seen, he was swimming for the shore. The Adams immediately blew up with a tremendous explosion. Hampden was in possession of the enemy."

Before the Adams was blown up, a battle was fought which lasted half an hour. The greatest alarm prevails at Portland, 2000 militia were to march in there this day. The publick mail is not allowed by the enemy to pass over the Penobscot.

POSTSCRIPT.

By the Pilot Stage from N. York—last night. Office of the Commercial Advertiser, Sept. 10—evening.

Mr. CUTTS, a member of congress arrived in the stage this morning, and informed us, that the brave capt. MORRIS is safe, and had arrived at Portland with all his crew, on their way to Portsmouth, (N. H.) to join capt. HULL.

BOSTON, Sept. 7.

CAPTURE OF CASTINE AND BELFAST.

Letters and passengers from the Eastward informs, that on the 1st inst. about 25 sail of British vessels arrived at the entrance of Penobscot river—landed about 2000 troops, and took possession of Castine, and afterwards of Belfast, in the county of Hancock, & began to entrench themselves. On their approach to Castine, a flag was sent to demand the surrender of the fort, garrisoned by about 30 U. S. troops, under a Captain, and giving 5 minutes for deliberation. The captain replied, he did not wish 1 minute's consideration; and sent the flag back with an assurance that he would not surrender. As the ships neared, he fired off his four guns—all of which hit a vessel—then blew up his magazine—retreated and joined the crew of the Adams, ship of war. The expedition is under the direction of Sir JNO. SHERBROKE—the troops commanded by maj. gen. ROBINSON. A gentleman who was on a journey at Belfast when it was taken, says, the troops behaved with the utmost circumspection and were in very fine condition. Sir JNO. SHERBROKE, had issued a Proclamation to the inhabitants, in which he assures them, if no resistance is made, that private property in every instance, shall be respected.

NOTE.—CASTINE, is the shire town of Hancock county, Maine, situated on the east side of Penobscot bay, about 30 miles from the sea: it was a place of considerable foreign trade before the measures of government deprived the inhabitants of all business. It contained in 1806, 1000 inhabitants.

BELFAST is an incorporated town of Hancock county, Maine—situated near the mouth of the Penobscot river.

THE BRITISH SHIPS IN THE POTOMAC GONE DOWN.

Opposition was made to the passage of the British down the river, till all the ammunition furnished to the defenders of the lower (PERRY's) battery was expended What can be expected from bravery unsupported by the ordinary means of offence. The heart sickens at the inefficiency displayed by our rulers at a moment when energy is required. But the enterprize has failed, totally failed, for want of guns, gun carriages and ammunition. The people of America will not believe it, Europe will not believe it, that a battery planted 16 miles from the seat of government, after two years war, could not be supplied with one dozen cannon. There were men enough, ten, twenty times over, but there was a deficiency in the munitions of war.

The following letter copied from the last Boston Centinel, contains charges of a very serious and important nature. The editor of the Centinel, if properly called upon, is bound, and certainly ought, to give names. Such charges, being of a public nature and involving the vital interests of the nation, ought to be immediately refuted or substantiated.

From the Boston Centinel, Sept. 10.

IMPORTANT LETTER.

The original of the letter from an American gentleman in Paris, of which the following is an extract, has been seen by the Editor, who vouches for its having been faithfully copied therefrom:

"PARIS, MAY 26.

"The Treaty is nearly concluded, and we shall once more see all the world in Peace, excepting our own country—thanks to the wisdom of the Democrats and the partizans of BONAPARTE! Since the War has been declared, he has not exercised one single act of amity or friendship, either towards the nation or any individual. It is very well known by every one here who has connection with the government, that it was by bribery that the vote for the War was obtained. A gentleman employed in the Office of the Department of Foreign Affairs, told me, that he saw on the books the NAMES of the SENATORS BRIBED, and the SUMS PAID EACH OF THEM by SERRURIER. I hope in a short time to be able to procure a copy of it, to send to you. The country was sold by ARMSTRONG before he left Paris, and the war was decided upon; and in consequence he was made secretary of war, the better to accomplish the diabolical system. I hope the events which have taken place in Europe will enlighten the American people, and shew them their true interest, and that they will have resolution and patriotism enough to dismiss from their counsels men who have so basely betrayed their country and the confidence that was reposed in them by their fellow citizens. This is the first step towards making an honorable peace, which must be the desire of every true American."

There is a letter in town stating that capt. JONES had written from Harwick on the 14th and 24th of July, that he was about to proceed from thence to a port in Holland, where our commissioners either were, or soon would be, to embark for the U. S. According to this, all hopes of an accommodation must have been at an end. The administration are understood to have accounts to the same effect

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 15.

Copy of a letter from gen. Smith of the Maryland militia, to the sec'y of war, dated, H. Q. Hamstead Hill, Baltimore, Sept. 14, 1814, 10 A. M.

Sir, I have the honor of informing you that the enemy, after an unsuccessful attempt both by land & water on this place, appear to be retiring. We have a force hanging on their rear—I shall give you further particulars in the course of the day. I have the honor to be, &c.

S. SMITH, maj. gen. com'g.

P. S The enemy's vessels in the Patapsco are under way going down the river. I have good reason to believe that Gen. Ross is mortally wounded.

Hon. J. Monroe, acting sec'y of war.

LATE & IMPORTANT.

An express to the acting sec'y of war has just reached the city, and brings intelligence that a battle took place on Tuesday between an advanced corps of our army under gen. Stricker, consisting of 4000 men, and a part of the enemy's forces of a much larger number. After sustaining the conflict for a considerable time against this superior force our brave fellows were ordered to retire, which they did in good order, bringing off the artillery. The enemy, after occupying the battle ground a short time, retired in great confusion, leaving his ammunition on it. Gen Winder at the head of 5000 men were in full pursuit.

The attack made on the fort was repulsed most gallantly, and the enemy's vessels have gone down the river precipitately. Gen. Ross was mortally wounded in the attack. Our total loss in encounters with the enemy is said to be from 60 to 80 in killed and wounded and his loss from 3 to 400. Of our officers, the worthy WM. LOWRY DONALDSON is the only one known to be killed.

We have by newspapers of the 16th the pleasing confirmation of the departure of the enemy from before Baltimore.

NEW YORK, SEPT. 12.

Mr. Reese E. Fleeson, of Pittsburgh, Penn. who took passage from New-Orleans, in the sloop Financier, which vessel was captured, was landed on Plum Island from on board the Superb, Hotham, off New-London, on Wednesday last, and arrived in town on Saturday evening.

Mr. F. informed us, that he was on board the Superb about a week, during which time several of the midshipmen remarked that they momently expected the fleet from the Chesapeake would join them, and that they were either going to attack New-London, or landing on Long Island, to make an attack on New York. The day and night before Mr. F. was landed from the Superb, the crew was employed in taking in water and overhauling her magazine and guns.

From the Albany Register, Sept. 9.

PLATTSBURGH TAKEN.

An express arrived here last evening, bringing the unpleasant intelligence of the capture of the village of Plattsburgh, by the British forces under major general BRISBANE. The express left Plattsburgh on Tuesday afternoon, and states, as we are informed, that the enemy entered the town about 11 o'clock, that they were met about seven miles from the place by about eight hundred militia supported by maj Wood, and 25 regulars, that considerable skirmishing took place, in which a few of our men were killed and wounded, that major Wood and the regulars retreated to the fort, and the enemy took possession of the village which had been previously deserted by the inhabitants.

Our regular force in the fort is stated to be about 2000 effective men, well provisioned, and no doubt is entertained of their being able to make a bold and vigorous stand.

The enemy have taken possession of the Isle of Mott, and obliged a number of inhabitants to take the oath of allegiance to the British government.

From the Buffalo Gazette Sept. 13.

The operations of the contending armies at fort Erie, from the 5th to the 11th inst. were not important—some few men have, we learn, been taken on both sides. On Saturday, the militia and volunteer forces, assembled at Buffalo, manfully agreed to cross to fort Erie, to reinforce our gallant band of warriors, under maj gen. BROWN.

DOCTOR HANDY'S,

WORM DESTROYING

LOZENGES,

A safe and efficacious Medicine for destroying and bringing away

WORMS.

MAY be used with safety by children of any age, or as common physic by the most delicate constitution, in any climate, without restraint of diet, or the smallest danger from cold. It may be given with advantage after the small-pox or measles; or as a family medicine, in any case where physic is necessary. The most frequent seat of worms in the human body, is the intestinal tube; but occasionally they have been found in almos every other part of the body.

Some very extraordinary cases of Worms, of an unusual form and appearance, being brought away by these Lozenges, have been made public in England, where the rapid sale of the medicine has exceeded any thing of the kind ever known before; and has also proved, to a demonstration, its approved superiority, as an athelminthick, to the numerous puffed-up, useless nostrums, which are daily advertised in the newspapers.

A single dose of this valuable Medicine has often been known to remove half a pot-full of the Teres or Round Worms.

A few doses are generally sufficient to remove the Ascarides, a small white worm, the seat of which is either the stomach or rectum.

Even the Tape Worm, at all times the most difficult to destroy, may, by persevering in the frequent use of this medicine, be totally removed in the course of a few weeks.

To select cases, with the names of people who are not known here, and living at a great distance, would be useless, and take up too much of the reader's time. We shall therefore only observe, for the benefit of those who are unacquainted with the symptoms of worms, that they are known or suspected to exist by a pain in the stomach, attended with a sudden depression of spirits before eating; at other times, the belly is hard, painful and distended with wind—costiveness, head-ache, and trembling of the limbs, with a sense of something rising in the throat—pale complexion and emaciated body, with weakness and irregular appetite—convulsive, epileptic, or falling fits—pains in the back and side, and frequent itching of the nose, and sometimes of the anus. The above, and a long train of afflicting diseases may all be occasioned by worms, which are much oftener the cause of death than is commonly believed.

The above valuable Medicine is sold only by

J. P. & J. W. SKELTON,

at their wholesale and retail Drug Store, at the corner of Wood and Third Streets, Pittsburgh.

BRIGHTON IRON WORKS

FOR SALE.

THIS elegant establishment consists of a Furnace, Forge, Grist and Saw Mill, together with extensive Coal, Store and Dwelling Houses, situate at the middle falls of Big Beaver creek, one mile from navigable water, 3 miles from the Ohio, 3 miles from the town of Beaver, and 28 miles from Pittsburgh. The Grist and Saw Mill are now usefully employed, and can be made very productive at a small expence. The Furnace and Forge are equal to any in the western country. The scite for water works comprises advantages equal if not superior to any on the Brandywine. The adjacent country abounds with ore, fuel and provisions, and the facility of transportation by water from the works to every part of the western country promises a sure and steady market for all its productions. The works are well supplied with first rate forge and furnace hands. The forge is now in operation, and the usual number of hands and teams are constantly employed in providing stock for a new blast, which it is intended shall take place about the 1st of March next, whether sold or not. The casting house is spacious and well suplied with flasks, patterns, and other requisite articles.—Possession can be given either before or after the first of March, as may be agreed upon, a fair price being given for the stock on hand.

Doctor CHISHOLM'S Anti-Bilious Pills,

OF A QUALITY

Superior to any thing of the kind ever offered as a

GENERAL MEDICINE,

IN THIS COUNTRY,

Now prepared from a recipe of the celebrated Dr. Chisholm, who, from a long residence in the West-India islands, has been enabled to favor the world with the most complete history, and most approved methods of curing all the BILIOUS DISEASES of those warm climates

This extraordinary medicine, which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuant of bile, is without example; never producing debility, or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child, or weakly female.

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excrutiating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains, wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flax-seed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and diseases of the liver, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills, taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case, the dose may be increased according to the strength or constitution.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing and great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

The above valuable Medicine is Sold ONLY in Pittsburgh, by

J. P. & J. W. Skelton,

At their Wholesale and Retail Apothecary and Drug Store.
